

London Hydrogen Partnership (LHP) Consultancy Services

client: Greater London Authority.

client brief: Provide consultancy services on hydrogen transport technology and developments to the LHP.

our solution: Objective advice and engineering analysis on all aspects of hydrogen transport infrastructure. Formulation of deployment strategies.

description: The London Hydrogen Partnership was launched in 2002 to develop and support hydrogen based initiatives in the city. The Partnership is currently preparing an Action Plan for the development of hydrogen energy, which will set-out longer-term goals and short-term activities to achieve them.

Element Energy is currently working closely with the Partnership to develop the transport related aspects of this action plan. In addition to strategic advice, we are working on the development and financing of various transport project proposals.
